

Insert #3 28 Aug 86

Site appears to be a very large, complex multi-storied (perhaps 7) building. Poorly constructed of red stone. Building is old and is not too far from a body of bright blue water. There is an elevated roadway on the side of building (see SKETCH #1). Building is complex with many wings and hallways. Building feels old and various smells, feelings and emotions have become part of the building and could be perceived by a sensitive person. Building has a brutal civil service feel to it. Building is official, somewhat bureaucratic and has a lesser feeling of academia.

Floor — location — is an area of at least two desks. Two people are talking. people are serious, engineer types. They are now talking about mts and abouts not theory, as if the theory has been solved and they are starting to put it (NFI) together.

FLOOR — LOCATION — is a darkened area with a bunch of desks. Each desk has a very bright light on it facing down at desk. people concentrate very hard and pay much attention to detail. They work with overlays with colored radi (see sketch), with strings of numbers and with references (NFI)
